

GUIDELINES for AMERICAN PEANUT RESEARCH & EDUCATION SOCIETY

BAILEY AWARD

The Bailey Award is given to the author(s) of the best paper presented at the APRES Annual Meeting. The Bailey Award was established in honor of Wallace K. Bailey, an eminent peanut scientist.

The award is determined through a two-step process whereby nominations are selected from the oral paper presentations at the APRES Annual Meeting. One nominee is selected from each session category. Nominees are asked to submit a manuscript based on the information presented during the respective meeting. The winner is decided after critiquing the submitted manuscripts.

Initial Selection – Oral Presentation:

Each session moderator shall appoint three persons, including him/herself if desired, to select the best paper in the session. None of the judges can be an author or co-author of papers presented during the respective session. No more than one paper from each session can be nominated for the award but, at the discretion of the session moderator in consultation with the Bailey Award chairman, the three judges may agree to forego submission of a nomination. Symposia and poster presentations are not eligible for the Bailey Award.

The following should be considered for eligibility:

1. The presenter of a nominated paper, whether the first or a secondary author, must be a member of APRES.
2. Joe Sugg Graduate Student Competitors, oral presentation and poster presentation, are not eligible for the Bailey Award.
3. Symposia and Poster presentations are not eligible for the Bailey Award.

Oral presentations will be judged for the Award based on the following criteria:

- Well organized.
- Clearly stated.
- Scientifically sound.
- Original research or new concepts in extension or education.
- Presented within the time allowed.

A copy of these criteria will be distributed to each session moderator and judge prior to the session.

Final Evaluation – Submitted Manuscript:

Final evaluation for the Award and determination of the winner will be made from manuscripts submitted to the Bailey Awards Committee, after having been selected previously from presentations at the APRES meetings. These manuscripts should be based on the oral presentation and abstract as published in the APRES Annual Meeting Proceedings.

The following should be considered for eligibility:

1. Authorship of the manuscript should be the same (both in name and order) as the original abstract.
2. Papers with added author(s) will be ruled ineligible.
3. Submission of a manuscript for Bailey Award consideration is an agreement to publish the manuscript or a "Spotlight" Research article in Peanut Science, if the manuscript is the winning paper. (Winning paper is published free of charge.)

Manuscripts are judged using the following criteria:

1. Appropriateness of the introduction, materials and methods, results and discussion, interpretation and conclusions, illustrations and tables.
2. Originality of concept and methodology.
3. Clarity of text, tables and figures; economy of style; building on known literature.
4. Contribution to peanut scientific knowledge.
